WINNING TOGETHER

Our business is about technology.
But first of all, it's about people.

Project Manager with German

Computacenter Romania is an early-stage company, part of Computacenter group - a trusted, agile, and innovative provider of digital technology around the world. We're a fully distributed team, with team members across Romania, and other Computacenter countries internationally.

We are looking for a self-driven Project Manager who will be a key part in Computacenter's growth plan, involved in several projects through effective stakeholder management, and project coordination. Our ideal colleague is knowledgeable enough to drive our business goals to success, and flexible enough to operate in a new, growing environment.

Responsibilities

- Coordinate resources, prepare project teams for kick-off, ensure practical completion of project milestones, control project scope, and mitigate risk
- Oversee implementation and ensure all elements are considered and factored into the project plan
- Manage all project reporting, providing transparency and updates to client stakeholders and senior management through project dashboards, status reports and financial tracking reports
- Advise on resource allocation and workload assignments according to the project requirements
- Make sure projects are appropriately resourced in terms of people, skills, and expertise
- Oversee daily activities of the projects and provide direction and guidance as needed
- Ensure the team maintains a high level of competence and operational excellence
- Make critical business decisions to meet the project expectations

Requirements

- Previous experience in roles that involve project management
- Experience in working in an Agile environment
- Experience in working on multiple projects at once
- Significant project management skills: planning, organising, evaluation and review
